

Plural and Possessive

Look at the scene in the image below.

Write at least ten sentences to describe what might be happening. Each of your sentences must include a possessive apostrophe.

Make sure you include both singular nouns and plural nouns.

Things to think about:

- What might you be able to hear?
- What might you be able to see?
- What might be happening in the surroundings?

The children's tree house was always busy.

The tree house's ladder stretched from the platform to the grass below.

The fence's pickets were white and freshly painted.

The children's laughter could be heard from afar.

The trees' leaves rustled peacefully in the light breeze.

The girls' shoes were strewn across the garden.

The boys' t-shirts were bought from the same shop.

The birds' wings flapped lazily across the sky.

The swing's rope rocked the girl from side to side.

The tree's trunk stood securely below the tree house.
